Crafts Register

Inclusion of anyone in the Crafts Register does not constitute a recommendation, endorsement or approval by the Derbyshire Historic Buildings Trust (DHBT).

While we aim to ensure that the information provided is accurate at the time of listing, DHBT does not assess, guarantee or warrant the qualifications, quality or suitability of any individual or organisation included.

It is entirely your own choice whether or not to do any of the following activity:

- use the Crafts Register;
- contact or engage with anyone listed on the Crafts Register;
- enter any contract or arrangement with them;
- obtain or rely on any advice, guidance or other information from them; or
- receive any services from them or have any dealings or other interactions with them; or
- do any mix of any of the above.

Any such activity is strictly between you and the listed individual or organisation and does not involve or form part of DHBT's services or responsibilities.

DHBT accepts no responsibility or liability for any advice, service, work, or outcome arising from the use of the Crafts Register or from any dealings with those listed. You are strongly encouraged to carry out your own checks and seek independent professional advice before relying on any entry or entering any contract or binding arrangement, understanding or commitment.
